Throughout his four years at West Chester, the individual is showered with a myriad of impressions. These impressions, of course, vary from day to day in both nature and importance. Their force of impact also vary, depending upon the situation. The result is a stream-of-consciousness effect in which these impressions are catalogued, utilized, and sometimes adopted per se into the individual's personality and his outlook on life. Thus, we can say that he is, in fact, a product of all that he encounters. College life has been especially valuable because of the richness and the variety of experiences it offers. Of course, classroom activity contributes much toward the individual's development; perhaps he has learned more through exposure to all the different sets of values he has encountered in the dormitory, at the lunchtable, or perhaps in the various activities, organizations, and sports in which he has participated. The result of this constant exposure is that he is then able to redefine his own values and attain a self-concept and an identity of which he can be proud. It is this identity, this individuality, that the 1967 Serpentine is presenting as its theme. The aim has been to characterize the individual in all phases of his life at West Chester and to emphasize the principle that, through this involvement, he emerges a "single separate person."

DR. EARL SYKES, PRESIDENT

Enjoying a delicious Slater meal, Dr. Sykes participates in one of the more pleasant aspects of his responsibilities as college president.

Dr. and Mrs. Sykes take a great interest in the cultural programs presented at West Chester. Here they are attending an I.G.A. assembly.

Having been a member of West Chester's administrative staff for about twenty years, Dr. Earl F. Sykes, after a year as Acting President, was appointed President of West Chester State College on August 9, 1962. Dr. Sykes was graduated from Montana State University, where he obtained a B.A. in Social Studies and an M.A. in Educational Administration. Dr. Sykes then proceeded to earn his Doctorate in Educational Administration of both public schools and colleges at Columbia University Teachers' College. Because of the positions Dr. Sykes has held at West Chester prior to his appointment as President, such as Acting Dean of Men, Director of Placement, Supervisor of Student Teaching, and Dean of Academic Affairs, he is most capable of understanding problems at any level. In his official capacity as Chief Administrator of the college, Dr. Sykes's duties are many and varied. In addition to his responsibilities in directing all administrative affairs, he is often called upon to officiate at various collegiate activities and thus plays an active role in student affairs. Dr. Sykes's untiring efforts to improve all aspects of college life render him a man most worthy of his high position at West Chester State.

PRESIDENT'S CABINET

Above: Dr. Arnold Fletcher, Dean of Faculty and Academic Affairs, and left, Mr. F. William Leeds, his able assistant. Besides directing scheduling, the library, and the Demonstration school, Dr. Fletcher and Mr. Leeds are, of course, concerned with the rapidly improving undergraduate and graduate programs at West Chester.

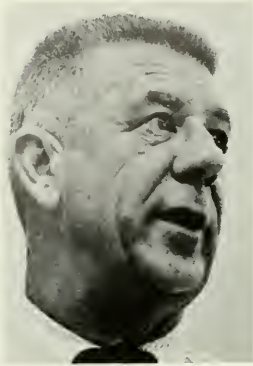

Above: Dr. Jack Owens, Dean of Student Affairs, and r., his assistant, Mr. William Benner. Dr. Owens and Mr. Benner have charge of all aspects of student life and efficiently guide students in governmental, athletic, and social activities. Both men are always willing to lend a helping hand to any student in need of guidance.

Left: Mr. Robert C. Hannum, Director of Facilities, Development, and Management, and below, his assistant, Mr. Lloyd Black. Mr. Hannum and Mr. Black are concerned with an ever expanding college program to establish new and better facilities for students. Recent constructions are evidence of an outstanding job.

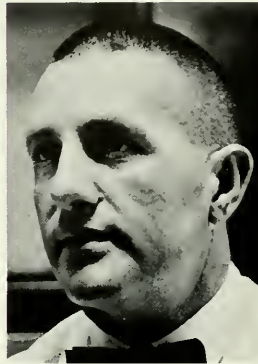

Below: Mr. E. Shaefer, Director of Business Affairs, and right, his assistant, Mr. D. Hickman. These men are concerned with college financial transactions and handle quite capably all of West Chester's business matters. With a rapidly expanding college scene, Mr. Shaefer's and Mr. Hickman's job has increased in size.

ADMINISTRATIVE STAFF

Left: Mr. Emil H. Messikomer, Dean of Undergraduate Studies, and below, his assistant, Mr. Robert R. Shinehouse. These two capable men have charge of all students' many academic problems, which include such matters as scheduling, credits, available courses, and grades.

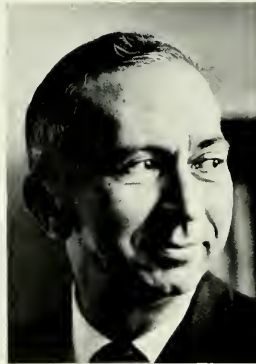

Right: Dr. Kenneth C. Slagle, Dean of Arts and Sciences. Dr. Slagle is in charge of the Liberal Arts program at West Chester, which has been expanding quite rapidly in recent years. Students who are in this curriculum may major in the Humanities or the Sciences or mathematics.

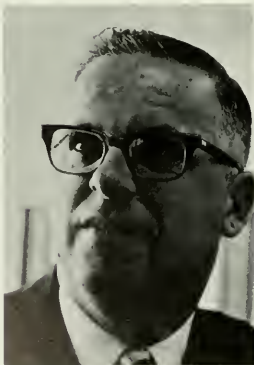

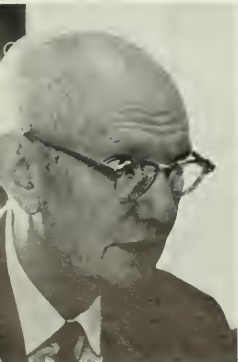

Left: Mrs. Helen E. Shippee, Registrar. This efficient lady is responsible for maintaining all college transcripts and sending out all references. Her capability is most evident and is a necessity to her position.

Right: Mr. Robert Reese, Director of Athletics. Supervising the entire athletic program at West Chester, Mr. Reese's many duties include providing equipment for the teams, arranging transportational facilities, thus aiding avid spectators.

Left: Dr. Tally, Acting Director of Student Teaching. Dr. Tally is in charge of placing senior education majors in student teaching positions and of advising student teaching supervisors. Because student teaching is vital to education, his position is most essential.

Right: Dr. William Houpt, Director of Public Relations. Dr. Houpt is responsible for maintaining West Chester's reputation as a highly ranked Pennsylvania State College. Among his contributions to the college was the invaluable assistance he gave to the Junior Show.

Far left: Dr. B. Paul Ross, Director of Admissions and left, his assistant, Mr. R. Godfrey Studenmund. Determining which persons are acceptable as future West Chester students is the job of these two discriminating individuals. Their job of selection and placement is difficult.

DEAN OF WOMEN

It takes more than the written word to describe the tasks that the Dean of Women's Staff (seated, Miss Bernice Bernatz; Miss Carolyn Spiesz, left; and Mrs. Florence Inghram, right) has to undertake in order to fulfill their commitments towards meeting the needs of the co-eds. On campus one sees Miss Bernatz chatting with students in the snack bar, consulting with Resident Advisors about dormitory concerns, dealing with discipline problems, advising Women's Government officers, hosting important social events, and anticipating the day when her women students are graduated from West Chester as thinking, achieving, well-adjusted, professionally minded adults.

DEAN OF MEN

This year Dean W. Glen Killinger (left) has had the fortune to be ably assisted by Mr. Ronald L. Gottshall (right) in his untiring efforts to maintain a high standard of conduct and personal character among men students. Dean Killinger and his assistant are the official advisors of the Men's Resident Council which reports any discipline problems, general dorm conditions, and needed improvements. Dean Killinger is very responsive to the needs of the men students and works to create an atmosphere that is academically as well as socially enlightening. Among Dr. Killinger's other duties is his service to the baseball team. During all his years of service with West Chester baseball teams, Dr. Killinger has never failed to boost the spirit of his teams. Congratulations Dean Killinger, for a job well done.

Mrs. Logan, Resident Advisor, discusses West Chester State's program for advising women students with Miss Spiezs, Assistant Dean of Women.

Enjoying the antics of WCSC women students at the Big-Little Sister Picnic, the Resident Advisors take a minute for an exchange of news.

RESIDENT ADVISERS

Composed of many and various experiences contributing to the formation of the student as an unique individual, college life offers one experience which prepares the student for his life after graduation — the experience of living and communicating with people of diversified backgrounds and interests. Aiding the student in this often difficult phase of adjustment, the Resident Advisors administer their time selflessly.

The Resident Advisors for women are, standing: Mrs. Ayling, Mrs. Smith, Mrs. Williams, Mrs. Payne, Mrs. Alava, Miss De Pew, Mrs. Mitchell and Miss Margaret Egger. Seated: Miss Boyle, Mrs. Hale, Mrs. Lindsay, Mrs. McKechnie, Mrs. Logan.

OPERATORS

College operators, seated: Mrs. Lane, Mrs. Harrington.
Standing: Mrs. Palmer, Mrs. Brown, Mrs. McCullough.

Caught up in a web of buzzing telephone lines, these two operators calmly handle the difficult task of transmitting telephone calls.

Many people are involved in the process of keeping a campus together and essential to this process are adequate communication facilities. Instrumental in maintaining this communication for the campus are the college operators, who administer all calls to and from the college, and in this capacity, perform a valuable service. Considering the enrollment of the college and the pressures involved in transmitting calls, the operators deliver prompt services.

MEDICAL STAFF

Dr. Kistler carefully gives this student a routine medical check.

The College Infirmary staff, Mrs. Futer, Dr. Kistler, Mrs. Willard and Mrs. Boyer, proficiently manage to meet the health needs of West Chester's students. The Infirmary Staff keeps an up-to-date record of the physical condition of every student, and a member of the staff is always present to attend to the medical problems and needs of the individual college student.

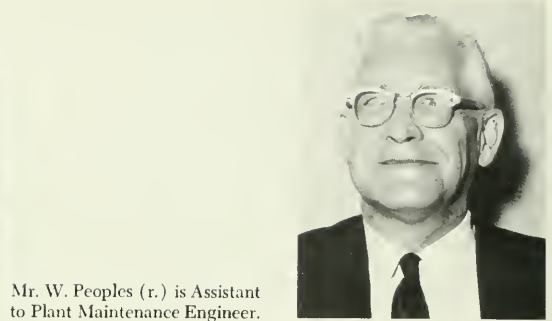

MAINTENANCE

These five intrepid members of our campus maintenance force represent the many friendly faces we see each day on campus.

"Swopey" is as much a member of the maintenance crew as any man.

Mr. W. Peoples (r.) is Assistant to Plant Maintenance Engineer.

Cutting a rug, or is it a field, this man starts his day early in an untiring effort to maintain the beauty of our campus grounds.

Our friendly campus police staff checks the security of all college buildings, patrols the campus, aids injured students and personnel, assists in all accidents occurring on campus, and, in general, maintains law and order on the West Chester campus. Its reliable assistance is very greatly appreciated by every student.

Always eager to lend a helping hand, members of our campus police, l. to r.: Lt. Urbine, Mr. Burger (Chief of Security), and Mr. Fritz, are familiar to students.

Performing a thankless task, Lt. Urbine tags an illegally parked car with a courtesy card.

CAMPUS POLICE

A. R. A. SLATER

A.R.A. Slater Food Service performs a very difficult task — that of feeding over 2,000 hungry students three well-balanced meals a day. Under the capable direction of Mr. O'Doherty (better known as "Mr. O'D"), the Slater staff manages to efficiently serve meals in a friendly, gracious atmosphere. Besides serving regular college meals, the Slater staff is also responsible for serving at the many college banquets, luncheons, picnics and teas. Most appreciated by West Chester students are the annual Hawaiian luau in the fall and the wild western cook-out in the spring. Certainly Mr. O'D and his hard-working staff deserve much credit for their most excellent and untiring service.

Pictured above are the Slater staff members. From l. to r.: Mr. Depalantonio, Mr. Melackrinos, Mr. Gebbard, Mr. P. O'Doherty (director), and Mrs. Thomas (seated).

Maybe if I drink all of this milk, I won't have any room left for dinner.

Peering out from the depths of the "pit," these fellows pause for a break and take time out to observe all that's going on in the outside world.

Slater has done it again! The pleased look on this young man's face shows that he is enjoying his delicious meal as well as the company of the three young ladies. Who wouldn't with a three-one ratio!

In the relatively new atmosphere of Lawrence Hall, the post office staff, along with the aid of student helpers, sort and deliver a myriad of long-awaited letters from home, magazines, college bulletins and circulars, and packages of assorted shapes and sizes.

Let's see now, I.G.A. assembly news, my home-town paper, a library notice, and a letter-for my box-mate.

The I.G.A. college bookstore is one place with which all West Chester students are familiar. The store has greatly expanded during the last four years and now boasts of a larger size as well as a greater variety of merchandise. Everything from books to bobypins is to be found there. Jobs are also provided for those students who require them.

BOOKSTORE

Involved in the organization and staff of the bookstore are, l. to r.: Edith Dumire, Katherine Finnegan, Ed Reynolds, Robert Norris, Alberta McAfee, Cecilia Close, and Shirley Towusend. Their assistance is vital.

A familiar sight to all is a busy and crowded bookstore during the first week or two of classes. Pictured below are some fortunate students who have finally managed to make it to the cash register — probably after a long wait!

Students of the Jewish religion compose the membership of the Hillel Club. Dr. Schick of the Music Department and Mrs. Irene Shur of the History Department act as faculty advisors to the club. Robert Segall, the student president, outlined the club's activities to cover a three-point program: religious, educational, and social. Frequent discussions contribute to the student interest, understanding, and comprehension of religious issues.

Endeavoring to keep the student body informed on campus news, the members of the Quad Angles, the college newspaper, devote many hours to the journalistic technicalities and problems of putting out a newspaper.

The Quad Angles serves as a common link among the divergent types of student personalities and helps to generate interest in the many activities, events, and organizations on campus, thereby encouraging participation.

Mr. Hockenberry, the advisor for Quad Angles, and Mrs. Mackey, the varitypist, discuss journalistic procedures with reporter Louise Hay.

Holding up under the tension of deadlines, the Board of Editors of the Quad Angles seem to enjoy the capacity of student journalists.

QUAD ANGLES

A campus is a melting pot of students who have come to college to learn and to broaden themselves in all facets of living. Communication is an essential to the campus which aims to provide its students with adequate opportunities for acquiring these ambitions. The Quad Angles, in its capacity as the college newspaper, furnishes the students and faculty with the news concerning campus activities and projects and contributes to this process of student enrichment.

W. C. S. C. RADIO

Under the supervision of station manager, Bob Gordon, the members of WCSC bring together diverse skills in order to produce a good station. With a maximum of interest and effort they try to turn out programs which will be of interest to almost all of the students of this college, and at the same time develop their own skills through the use of the station's new and expanding facilities located in the Lawrence Dining Hall.

Bryson Leidich is the man in charge of gathering, writing up, and presenting much of the material for the news broadcasts, as well as co-ordinating many of the special interest discussions.

That mellow voice often heard emanating from the radio is that of Dick Mullen, one of WCSC's most versatile and entertaining announcers, and one of West Chester's most active students.

West Chester's radio station, WCSC, provides both entertainment and education for the students of the college. It broadcasts musical programs varying from Blue Grass to Dixie Land, from Oldies But Goodies to Classical. It also sponsors discussion programs on political situations and has done much to bring about interest and change in school policies with its programs on such issues as the cut system and the listing of professors with the courses offered.

Avid camera "bugs" comprise the membership of the Photography Club. Interested in the techniques of photography, the members of this club study technical details as well as aesthetic details. Participation offers valuable knowledge.

PHOTOGRAPHY

The Sketch Club is advised by Mr. Jack Hawthorne and works on a rather loose and adaptable basis, with the members sketching whenever possible and submitting their works for criticism and advice. Students may join at any time if they so desire and are encouraged to work in any media, with an imaginative and creative approach in all areas.

SKETCH

BRIDGE

West Chester's Bridge Club is made up of members representing the student population and faculty. These frenzied card-players meet once each week, under the sponsorship of Mr. Harding Monroe, for competition with each other in prepared hands of duplicate bridge and for work toward master's points.

PSYCHOLOGY

Psychology Club, sponsored by Mr. Greenberg, has for the first time afforded the opportunity for the college student to delve deeper into the areas of psychology not explored by General Psychology courses. The president, Ira Warnick, and his officers scheduled stimulating lectures and field trips for its members.

MATH CLUB

Math Club strives to encourage professional attitudes among its members by encouraging practical application techniques in relation to mathematical theories learned in classrooms. Its members gain valuable knowledge.

Linda Nelson, the sponsor of Modern Dance this year at West Chester, has added new spark and interest to the group. The weekly meetings are a combination of rigid technique and creative expression. The group has planned to tour local high schools in the area and present demonstration programs. The group will also perform for the enjoyment of the college. In the picture below, the group is shown developing a particular modern dance skill.

MODERN DANCE

Under the able direction of their advisor, Mr. Benner, and their crew chief, C. Brodie, the Student Electrical Technical Staff, better known as SETS, performs a vital function in campus activities. These students are in charge of the lighting and sound at dances, sports events, and other social functions.

EQUESTRIAN

With the proper instructions and equipment, horseback riding provides an invigorating experience for any horse enthusiast. This club, with Mr. Hamilton as advisor, and E. Jacobs, president, serves one's riding zeal.

VARSITY

The Varsity Club might be considered the Physical Education Department's official greeting committee because it is this group of men that welcomes visiting teams to our school. Supervised by advisors Mr. Long and Mr. Butler and President Bob Emery, the club also sells game programs and donates the money to the teams.

M.E.N.C.

MENC, the Music Educator's National Conference, is an organization composed of music majors who are interested in enhancing their musical background and musical appreciation.

The members of the Folk and Square Dance Club learn many dances from other nations so that they may both entertain and educate. Under the supervision of Miss Coates, the group gives many performances for educational and social groups interested in the customs of other nations.

FOLK AND SQUARE DANCING

Popular music and dance rhythms at West Chester are provided by the Statesmen. Under the leadership of R. Hinkle, this talented group plays for college functions, such as the Junior Ring Dance and the Christmas Dance. They also entertain at concerts and informal mixers, affording students at West Chester the opportunity of enjoying fine dance band music. Membership in the Statesmen Band is open to any interested and qualified student.

STATESMEN

Entertainment presented by the Statesmen rivals that of top dance bands. Besides musical arrangements, they offer comedy routines and songs by vocalist K. East. Solos by the accomplished and versatile members of the band display the virtuosity of each instrumentalist. Long, concentrated practice sessions precede the final professional result. This group truly deserves the popularity it enjoys.

The Criterions deserve commendation for their constant efforts to present musical performances of the highest calibre. Participants in the annual Villanova Intercollegiate Jazz Festival, these talented musicians represent West Chester State College well. The "Crites" also give a spring jazz concert at the college, one of the year's social highlights.

CRITERIONS

What does a true Criterion member enjoy most—a professional performance such as that performed by J. Soete and his trombone?—or an impromptu jam session of a few members, who let off steam in some jazzy improvisations? The answer is that each member enjoys both, as a true musician becomes a part of his music, complementing it with personal enjoyment.

MEN'S CHORUS

Displaying cooperation among themselves and fervent interest in their music, the members of the Men's Chorus perform in the Christmas Carol Service and Spring Concert. The group, under the direction of Mr. Sweet, is formed of freshman and sophomore music majors, and also qualified men from other curricula.

COLLEGE CHOIR

The College Choir is composed of junior and senior students enrolled in the music curriculum. The choir participated in several concerts throughout the year, as well as in the annual Christmas Carol Service. This organization is under the direction of Miss Williams and has as its president Carol Sipe.

The freshman and sophomore music majors who make up the Women's Chorus feel that they gain, as well as give, pleasure and knowledge with their part in the Christmas Service and the Spring Concert. Their director, Miss Sheppard, provides them with the able leadership necessary for the development of their talents.

WOMEN'S CHORUS

Concert Choir, under the direction of Mr. Sweet, is composed of selected students from the Music Education curriculum. The organization performs in the annual Carol Service as well as in other concerts throughout the year. The choir also represents West Chester State College in a number of off-campus concerts.

CONCERT CHOIR

The Symphony Orchestra is known as one of the finest musical organizations on campus. Mr. S. Powell Middleton, director, expertly handles this group of musicians, who must audition to qualify for membership. Selections on which the Orchestra concentrates are of a serious nature, although its repertoire is varied. Its harmonious blending of tones brings pleasure to all audiences. The Orchestra presents programs for students in area high schools, an annual spring concert, and at times, accompanies instrumental and vocal majors for Senior Student Recitals. At the annual State Band Festival, members from the Orchestra are carefully selected to represent West Chester.

SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA

All the work of practice and rehearsals is culminated in the performances for the Concert Band. Member Tom Appert is seen here in last minute preparation for another excellent production.

GLEE CLUB

Women from the curricula of Elementary, Secondary, Phys. Ed., and Liberal Arts, who have an interest in singing, are welcome to join the Women's Glee Club. As a result of carefully held auditions at the beginning of every semester, the group has proved to be a fine addition to the musical organizations on campus. Under the direction of Miss Lois Williams, rehearsals are held twice weekly. During this time, music is prepared for two annual and traditional events at West Chester. These are the Christmas Carol Service and the Spring Concert. In addition to these formal performances, the Glee Club also goes caroling during the Christmas season and plans a social for new members.

The Marching Band provides lively entertainment during football games and especially at halftime, when precision routines are performed. Composed entirely of men from all curricula, the Band is under the direction of Mr. Richard Boerlin. The drum major, S. Fredericks, skillfully leads the Band in its drills.

Members of the Marching Band join in the excitement and the spirit of the cheering section at the Villanova game.

MARCHING BAND CONCERT BAND

Following the commands of the drum major, the Band parades onto Villanova's football field for half-time exercises.

A wide variety of musical compositions, from rousing marches to symphonic selections, is performed by the Concert Band. Under the new leadership of Mr. Richard Boerlin, the Band practices diligently to prepare music for assembly programs in colleges and high schools, the Spring Concert, and for other functions.

I. G. A.

I.G.A. officers supervise the activities of the general assembly and head certain committees. L. to r.: R. Norris, director, A. Sklut, parliamentarian, M. Plevyak, president, W. Yeager, vice-president, A. Cross, secretary, R. Powers, treasurer.

I.G.A. is independently financed and governed by West Chester students as it strives for unity and welfare for all college members. New innovations this year include a Social Committee which appeals to the entire student body for suggestions; the Publicity and Public Relations Committee, and the Student Union Committee. As a pace setter for other colleges and in an effort to improve existing conditions, I.G.A. is active in student government organizations on both state and national levels; this year it has joined the United States National Student Association to further these worthy ends.

Members of the general assembly listen to a committee report by Herb Seifert, chairman of the social committee. Committee reports are followed by discussions from the floor.

The I.G.A. general assembly is an elected group of representatives whose chief function is to express the goals of the entire student body as well as attend to governmental procedures.

ADVISORY BOARD

As the executive body of Women's Government, the Advisory Board attends to all important matters involving women students, and sponsors many activities which benefit the entire student body. Members of the Advisory Board are: kneeling: J. Clarke, B. Kaplan; seated: M. Wiley and officers, D. Donofrio, B. Warmkessel, J. Taylor and B. Rudy; P. Hillard, G. Davilla; standing: E. Berry, L. Porrecca and J. Freeman. The Deans act as advisors to the Board.

E. Berry and M. Wiley, co-chairmen of the Big-Little Sister Committee, are assisted by B. Kaplan, vice-chairman, and the members of the committee in welcoming freshmen women to campus.

BIG-LITTLE SISTER

Could it be the annual Baby Parade? No—it's just West Chester State's "little sisters" displaying infantile tendencies at the annual picnic given by the Big-Little Sister Committee.

Striving to create an atmosphere of friendliness and genuine interest, the members of the Big-Little Sister Committee try to provide each freshman woman with a "big sister" to help her in the difficult process of becoming acquainted with the campus, and making friends from what appears to the "frosh" an endless stream of dinks. The Big-Little Sister Picnic is the culminating event in this process of introduction and welcome to West Chester State.

Interested in obtaining an atmosphere conducive to valuable college experiences, Men's Resident Government strives to create a governing system for men which will guide them in the educational and social aspects of college. N. Fehr is the president of this important student governing body on campus.

RESIDENT GOVERNMENT

Under the direction of Ann Eshleman, the Dinner Committee procures a well-known personality to be a guest speaker at the annual dinner, which is sponsored by Women's Government.

Each year Women's Resident Government has the job of organizing group living procedures for girls' off-campus units and the dorms. It coordinates all resident activities and has representatives on the judicial board. Joanne Clarke is president, and she is accompanied by other officers from various units.

Through the combined efforts of Women's Day Council and its president Linda Caswell, the women commuters on West Chester State's campus are united and kept informed about all the activities which are open to them. Each year the Day Council sponsors a dinner dance and enters a float in the Rampage Parade.

The life of commuting students is complicated by transportation problems. Cars such as these may be seen throughout the campus in any vacant spot.

DAY GOVERNMENT

Men's Day Council has as its function the representation of men commuters in all phases of college life. President S. Cushman, and the members of Day Council, work toward a goal of closer interaction between the commuters and the residents in organizing and sponsoring activities of benefit to the students.

GOVERNMENT CLUB

There are several organizations for students with political interests. The Government Club is composed mostly of Social Science and Political Science majors. Members have many different political affiliations, but Gov't. Club functions as a clearinghouse for debate under the club's president, Marie Ceasari.

Perpetuating equality for all men, the West Chester State College branch of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People features well-known speakers in the field and encourages discussion among its members. The organization participates in campus activities and performs useful services.

N. A. A. C. P.

A. D. A.

One recently formed political organization on campus is the Americans for Democratic Action. Under chairman Ray Edwards, the local chapter of this national organization debates political policies of liberal democratic government.

YOUNG DEMOCRATS

Young Americans for Freedom are a group of students whose political goals lean toward conservative democratic government. The organization is headed by president Robert McCreight and is the counter-part of ADA.

Y. A. F.

Young Democrats, led by Mr. Phillips and Vince Snyder, President, strives to give its members a true sense of the importance of politics in today's world. This awareness is made more acute by mock elections and political studies.

YOUNG REPUBLICANS

The spirit of the GOP is kept alive on West Chester's campus by the Young Republicans. Under the guidance of Dr. Harding, and Barry Smith, the members discuss political affairs, campaign techniques, and election activities.

SERPENTINE STAFF

Sports-minded co-editors, Sue Wise and Newt Kulp, are assisted by Jay Staats and Charles Golder in assembling action shots of State's various sports.

The literary staff, headed by co-editors, Donna Hayden and Michael Barrett, capably fulfill their capacity as caption writers for the Serpentine.

The 1967 Serpentine staff was organized in September 1965, and has since spent many long hours in producing a yearbook that adequately portrays the spirit of West Chester. Its goal has been to spotlight the individual as he involves himself in college life, thus expanding his interests, and increasing his ability to realize self-potential. The '67 staff has worked hard to make this year's book one of the best to come out of West Chester.

The members of the '67 Serpentine editorial staff take a break from yearbook tasks to enjoy quips by associate editor Carla Walters, who laughingly reminds them of the coming deadline.

The typing staff, headed by editor, Diana MacBurney, steal away from their typewriters for a moment of reflective looking into the future to see how their long hours of labor will finally shape up in print.

Rita McGann, art editor, smiles in approval as Bob Powers and Karen Weisman, photography editors, give her shots to be fitted in the layout.

Paul Hartenstine and Diane Chapman, senior section editors, together with their staff, check the list of seniors who will graduate in order to amass the Serpentine's senior directory.

J. Bosworth-Fling, assistant advisor, and W. Landrum, advisor, reflect happily on the attempt of Cheryl Bickel, editor-in-chief, and Carla Walters, associate editor, to prove a point.

Linda Dague, secretary, types up minutes for the last Serpentine meeting as Patricia Martin, business manager, discusses monetary matters with her assistants, Jane Weston and Meg Patch.

LITERARY QUAD

The Literary Quad gives all the West Chester students the opportunity of having their own poetry, short stories, and essays put into print. It also serves to give the college the opportunity to recognize the creative and critical abilities of many capable students, and to create the intellectual atmosphere of self-expression which is essential to the development of any college or university.

Jan Zentmeyer goes through all material submitted to the Literary Quad in order to select the best literary works, which are then printed in the magazine.

RAMS EYE VIEW

One of the most useful publications, both for freshmen and upperclassmen, is the Ram's Eye View. It contains a list of library and meal hours, the college dress code, and information concerning the organizational and historical aspects of the college. The book is published each year in order to help all students become acquainted with the various aspects of West Chester's scholastic life.

Tommye Mallory is in charge of collecting information about the historical and functional aspects of the college and publishing it in Ram's Eye View.

SPORTS INFORMATION

Whenever someone wants to know where a game is to be played and who West Chester's opponent is, the first place to look is in the Sports Information Bulletin. Put out each year under the supervision of the Physical Education Department, the pamphlet contains much pertinent and useful information which the students need to know about the more important aspects of college sports life.

Each year Stu Schwartz works closely with the Phys. Ed. Department in compiling data about dates, places, and teams included in Sports Information.

Get your red-hot Ram's Horn books! They're going fast! Would you believe going? By the expressions on the faces of these co-eds, it looks as if they bargained with the solicitor.

THE RAM'S HORN

Under the capable editorship of Ted Racz, a graduate assistant, the Ram's Horn has proven to be a valuable information guide for the students at the football games. Relaying the names of the players and quoting vital statistics were two of the essential factors included in this college publication.

"I UNDERSTAND THE LARGE

THE COURAGE OF PRESENT TIMES
AND ALL TIMES . . .
I TAKE PART,
I SEE AND HEAR THE WHOLE . . .

SPORTS

Barry Sikorski, an All-American Ram goalie, deflects one of the many shots attempted by West Point. During the regulation game time, Barry kept the Cadets from scoring; however luck ran out for the Rams during the overtime play-off when several quick injuries benched the defensive backs. Scoring three times in ten minutes, West Point was the only team this season to beat the Rams on their home field. Our season record was an admirable 7-3; the team performed commendably.

Bob Leib and a host of other Rams continuously shift their positions in order to keep up with that very lively black and white soccer ball. Their faces reflect the excitement.

Larry Eisenhower battles with an opponent from West Point as teammate Jeff Polley looks on and gets ready for the ball to come over his way. The action occurred during Rampage weekend festivities.

Several milestones were recorded by the 1966 Ram soccer team. Among them were Coach Mel Lorback's 100th collegiate win, which came against Fairleigh-Dickinson University (his overall collegiate record is now 104 wins, 28 losses, and 11 ties); the selection of Bob Leib, Barry Sikorski, and Jeff Poley to the All-Area Team (composed of men from Delaware, Pennsylvania, and New Jersey); and Bobby Leib's being further honored by his selection to the All-American Team. The 1966 Rams Soccer Team played one of the roughest schedules in the nation and still obtained a very admirable record of 7 wins and 3 losses. With Bob Leib, Ed Townsley, and Glenn Hibshman as the only starting seniors who will graduate, Mr. Lorback's prospects for next year now look better than ever before.

The 1966 football season was one of many ups and few downs. West Chester finished the season with a 7-3 record. Other highlights of the season were the Rams' winning the Eastern Division of the PSCAC and then losing the championship in the thrilling last 74 seconds of the game with Clarion; WCSC's being on television for the first time at the Tangerine Bowl; seven players from West Chester being picked for the Eastern States Athletic Conference All-East Weekly Teams; eleven men being chosen for the first All-League (PSCAC) teams and eleven more for the second teams; Brian Mulhern's election to the Little All-American Team; and West Chester's being ranked twelfth in the nation among small colleges in offense and fifth in defense. Dr. Robert Mitten, head coach, said that the key to the success of the team was teamwork and balance. With the loss of only five of our starting seniors this year (Ron Smeltzer, Bob May, Bob Hyatt, Ray Kurowski, and Bob Holt), the outlook for next year's team is good, providing we maintain our excellent teamwork.

The Ram Harriers, under the direction of William Butler, posted a 7-3 record. With only one senior (Terry Hollinger) and one junior, the team did remarkably well, according to Coach Butler. The squad placed first in the PSCAC Championship meet and, in doing so, set a record score. The team also placed fourth in the strong Middle Atlantic Conference meet and fifth in the ICAA meet in New York. The only losses occurred early in the season when lack of experience temporarily hampered eight of the Team's ten varsity men.

Here is a scene on south campus just after the starter's gun goes off. Below, the Rams fight for good initial positions against American U.

Terry Hollinger, team captain and the squad's only senior member, jogs on his way to south campus. He helped to bring many a victory to State's Cross Country Team.

HOCKEY

With the arrival of fall comes field hockey season and once again Wilmington Field comes alive with bright-colored tunics darting everywhere. Sounds of girls shouting and wood striking wood is heard loud and clear at practice on those brisk afternoons. The Women's Hockey team of West Chester, under the capable direction of Miss Gros, have earned a high standing for themselves and the college. Conscientious team effort has gained this position.

This opponent may have the ball now, but not for long as two W. C. coeds with eyes on ball swiftly approach the situation.

With body positioned well, West Chester's Allison Gabel cuts successfully in front of an opponent to intercept a push-pass.

John Brown (44), Donald White (52), and assorted East Stroudsberg players watch the ball rather intently as Ram Co-Captain, Austin Foreman, shoots a fade-away shot at the basket above. The action occurred at West Chester State as the Rams played their first home game against a strong Stroudsberg team. The fans thoroughly enjoyed the 86-82 victory.

Austin Foreman (32) comes up with the rebound and attempts to break loose as John Brown (44) attempts to clear an opening for him. Donald White (52) watches the action.

Beginning at twelve o'clock and moving clockwise: Walter Funk, head coach, R. Toman, P. Weller, S. Danowitz, B. Sikorski, R. Taylor, R. Chambers, R. Ryder, D. Beshore, D. White, J. Brown, D. Borneman, and Alexander Young, ass't coach. Centered are Co-captains, J. Valore and A. Foreman.

BASKETBALL

Probably the most outstanding problem contributing to the lack of success of the '66-'67 Ram basketball team was lack of experience. With John Valore and A. Foreman being the only seniors on a squad otherwise consisting of four juniors and also eight sophomores, experience in varsity collegiate basketball was all but present. Two other things concerned in the failure of gathering a winning team together were lack of height with an accompanying deficiency in speed. Walter Funk, his first year as head coach, said that as the season progressed, the team may begin to show the potential it has.

Don White (52) and John Brown (44) leap in an attempt to make a rebound. Meanwhile, Pete Chambers looks as if he is well on his way to being "eliminated" from the entire scene.

Pete Chambers, a junior, was the Rams' chief play-maker and also their leading scorer. Here he has just made another one of his successful shots. His dedication is an asset to the team.

SWIMMING

chowski, T. Bovy, L. Clemens, R. Johnson, M. Plevyak. Sitting on the diving board: E. Balthaser, W. Coller, J. Metz, F. Noonan, J. Sessoms. In the water: M. Miller, W. Bennett, C. Didinger, F. Kofke, and T. Conway. The efforts of these men have given pride and prestige to West Chester.

The 1966-67 swimming season at West Chester proved to be a very interesting one, especially in the free-style events. The Rams possessed the best freestyle potential they have ever had. The record-setting freestyle relay team (Kevin Daly, John Fastrich, Joe Scheuchenzuber, Pete Warner, and Doug Owens) was consistently a strong one. The overall team had much potential but still lacked a balance that is needed in order to have a consistently winning team. The swimming team had a rather slow beginning, but, showing much improvement as the season progressed, it began to win its fair share of meets. Seniors on the squad included Captain Kevin Daly, John Gastrich, Jerry Sadler, Joe Scheuchenzuber, and Tim Bovy. These men, having had the experience, were the team's nucleus and provided incentive for the team.

Captain of the Ram Swimming Team, Kevin Daly, kicks off the starting box in a home meet. Kevin has been a major contributor to the team's successes.

As one of the leading men on West Chester's team, J. Fastrich exhibits his skill in the butterfly stroke, which is among the most difficult of all swimming accomplishments.

Most of the team members dedicate more time to their swimming efforts than that required during scheduled practices and meets. M. Miller is one of these enthusiasts; he is seen here perfecting his high dive form.

Frank Noonan excels in the backstroke; here he illustrates his power in a 100 yard race.

Funk, S. Griscom, K. Biles, J. Gemberling, H. Johnson, Robert Long, head coach. Missing from the picture are J. DeMarco, J. Hart, D. Wolstenholme, N. Kulp, manager, and M. Witmer.

WRESTLING

The 1966-67 college wrestling team, under the direction of Robert Long, was composed of inexperienced, yet strong team members. Out of the eleven starters, five were sophomores, and two, Harry Johnson (captain) and Mike Dowhower, were senior class members. In early season competition, Mike won his weight class in the Coast Guard Tournament (the team as a whole placed second), and Harry Johnson placed second in the Wilkes Tournament. The Rams, having one of the most difficult schedules of any small college, were rated ninth in the nation at the start of the season and proved that this prediction was a conservative one indeed. Several team and individual records were broken by this aggressive group, records which anticipate better years ahead.

Left, Mike Dowhower, a senior, is awarded the win for the 152 pound class in a meet with Millersville. Mike is one of the most dedicated and outstanding wrestlers on the entire team.

Harry Johnson, captain of the Ram grapplers, proceeds to take his man down while the referee keeps a careful watch. Harry's outstanding record has contributed much to the team's efforts.

Mike Moyer, one of the outstanding sophomores on the team, has just succeeded in pinning his man, as is indicated by the referee's raised hand. Mike is another heavy contributor to the success of the team, and is an extremely proficient matsman.

Mr. Robert Long, head coach, argues with the referee about what he feels is a very dubious call.

Grinning with satisfaction over a move he has just successfully completed, Mike Dowhower lifts his opponent's leg high while he attempts to put him down and attain another victory.

Mr. Trnka closely inspects the movements of a team member during a practice.

The 1966-67 gymnastics team, under the direction of Mila Trnka, had a very strong season and met many powerhouses. With three seniors (C. Golder, R. Landis, and G. Cernicky) and six juniors on the team, enough experience was present to win even the close ones. A most outstanding member of the team was Gary Anderson, who served as captain and also as best all-around man. The gymnastics team boasted of much depth, especially in the areas of parallel bars, rings, and floor exercise. Mr. Trnka was pleased with his team.

GYMNASTICS

McCawley, C. Golder, D. Mantz, J. Rose, J. Erdosy, R. Yerk, and Gene Kolacki, assistant coach. The above are all members of the West Chester gym team.

Left: Bruce Tustin demonstrates his skill on the parallel bars as he goes into his dismount. Bruce's ability was a big asset to the team.

Below: Gary Anderson performs on the long horse, one of the many apparatuses on which he is skilled. Gary is a very valuable team member.

Front Row, L. to R.: E. Babuska, A. Valken, C. Claggett, S. Reiker, P. Long. Middle: Coach Phyllis Cooper, J. Bohrer, J. Sherk, D. Scott, D. Merson, V. Kerekes, L. Gottshall. Back: S. Merke, M. Donadt, J. Tyn-dall, L. Bright, M. Faulkner, B. Mikkelson, C. Cowan. Being unde-feated for three years, the team aims to continue that winning streak.

GIRLS' GYMNASTICS

That cast on her foot doesn't keep Cindy Claggett away from practice.

Pat Long displays form and grace on the balance beam.

Alberta Valken effortlessly executes a split.

West Chester is proud of its fine Women's Gymnastics team. There are approximately eighteen women on the team, most of these being freshmen and sophomores which show promise of outstanding talent for next year's team. The team meets several days a week for practice under the excellent coaching of Mrs. Phyllis Cooper. In their meets, the women are judged on form and accuracy of execution. Every stunt is given a maximum standard point score, and the judges award points according to how close the participant comes to it.

Junior Carol Brown demonstrates the back stroke that has brought her outstanding honors in swimming. Success formula? Practice!

Carol Gantner is only a freshman and has already made a name for herself. Here we see Carol performing the butterfly in which she excels.

Every season, W. C. produces a championship Women's Competition Swimming team, and this year was no exception. Miss Barbara Leighton has done an excellent job in her first year as coach of the swimming team. Coach Leighton, and indeed everyone at West Chester, is especially proud of Carol Brown and Carol Gantner, two members who placed in the Women's Intercollegiate Nationals.

GIRLS' SWIMMING

Working under the able guidance and direction of Miss Barbara Leighton, coach, and managers L. Glasgow, L. Eberly, M. Maguire, N. Bear, and E. Ferguson, the members of the Women's Competitive Swimming team are excellent examples of the quality of the women athletes at West Chester. The team was composed entirely of underclassmen.

SYNCHRONIZED SWIMMING

"Egypt" is one of the many themes which acts as a base for routines.

Perfect timing and the ability to maintain proper spacing are two aspects of synchronized swimming that require concentration.

The grace and beauty of synchronized swimming is brought about by a combination of geometric forms, fine swimming ability, and musical accompaniment. The club, which numbers approximately thirty, presents an annual show. This year's presentation was entitled "Man in the Footsteps of Time" and traced the development of man from prehistoric times into the future. The two senior directors of the show were Peggy Archer and Sue Cichocki and they are to be commended on a job well done. Special recognition goes to Coach Kay Margerum for her excellent job of guiding the club in its successful season.

WIAP's first and second basketball teams have given W. C. a reputation as a college possessing many skilled athletes. In the past five years, our first team has lost only two games. The newly appointed coach, Miss Carol Weber, and her team are anticipating another undefeated season this year. In past tournaments, many favorable comments have been made concerning the fine attitude our women athletes have, both on and off the court. They respect basketball and consider it a privilege to represent West Chester. Their excellent attitudes as well as their well-developed skills will continue to bring them success.

Louann Ballinghoff with hands in the air and feet off the floor scores points using her famous bucket jump shot.

Should the Alumnus, Miss Dunn, approach P. Ferguson closer she will pass, shoot, or attempt to dribble around.

GIRLS' BASKETBALL

Pat Ferguson in the process of shooting releases the ball gracefully, showing the beauty and ease of well-developed skill that W. C. women athletes possess.

Discussing the strategy with their coach, Miss Carol Weber, are the senior members, Dottie Cash and Carol Mackay.

Miss Carol Weber quickly gives last minute coaching instructions to the women's first team before sending them out on the court to begin playing the annual Alumni game.

Front, l. to r.: P. Slade, L. Neill, P. Agnelli, R. Bianchini, K. Cornell, B. Nichael, G. Zall. Middle: M. Mayer, C. Wyman, J. Heindel, C. MacKay, K. Lucas, S. Delaney, S. Little, R. Rawlings, S. Grubb. Back: C. Crouse, D. Reynolds, Coach J. Rokus, L. Ballinghoff, C. Moyer, E. Ferguson, D. Loesch, B. Killian. This year's team shows great promise for a very successful season.

Among the West Chester women's sports, bowling and softball rank as perennial favorites. Although this year's bowling team faces a tough season against such teams as Penn, Temple, and Drexel, the girls are confident, and they anticipate many victories. Besides form and ability, the team also possesses great depth, an asset in any sport. Softball, too, possesses many assets which combined last year to give the team an undefeated season. The highlight of their season, the girls agree, was against WC's perennial rival, Ursinus. The game which went into thirteen innings ended when Kelly Lucas hit a homerun for a well-earned victory.

SOFTBALL

Carryl Wyman ably covers first base as W. C. takes on the girls from Ursinus. The team effort in this game secured another victory for an undefeated season.

With grace and form, Donna Wright begins her forward swing, which will add another strike to her score. This sophomore is one reason for the team's success.

BOWLING

ARCHERY

With tackle ready, archers step up to the shooting line, face the target, nock arrows, draw, anchor, aim, release and follow through for the start of a round toward one more West Chester victory. These co-eds, under Miss Yanisch's direction, have discovered that archery is one of the finest sports in which a woman can develop an interest while in college. West Chester also boasts of a fine track and field team under the fine coaching of Miss Kyvallos.

Archers know that to attain the end product, an accurate shot, they must strive to develop self-control and good coordination. L. to r.: Marcia Cole, Sally Prizer, Ann Eshleman, Mary Ellen Gaughn, Barbara Yearsly, Carole Markley, Betsy Forwood, Marci Maguire. Certainly Robin Hood's men never looked this good!

TRACK

BASEBALL

Bill Yeager watches the play on the field as he crosses the plate with one of the eleven runs scored by the Rams against LaSalle. The final score was eleven to four!!!

The welcome refreshment of a drink revives Melvin Sonier as he rests between innings of one of the many hard-fought games during the spring season.

The team members form a diamond with their coaches as bases. L. to r., kneeling: R. Shoff, W. Yeager, D. Hacker, V. Melagrano, G. Worcester, J. Willard, W. G. Killinger (Coach), B. Butterweck, J. Steidle, E. Smith, M. Sonier, E. Hardwick, R. Wilhelm. Standing: J.

Lemcke (Asst. Coach), D. Bielli, D. Faulkner, C. Houp, G. Emerick, T. Skiles, J. Vankoski, B. Howser, E. Messikomer (Asst. Coach), C. Robinson, D. Forney, J. Haynie, W. Irwin, A. Allen, G. Miller, R. Emery, A. Rapolla.

The attempted pick-off play at first proves unsuccessful as D. Hacker gets back in time.

The 1966 Ram baseball team compiled a record of 7 wins and 8 losses. The combination of a lack of experience and very strong opponents contributed to Head Coach Dr. W. Glenn Killinger's second losing season in his 33 years at West Chester. Dr. Killinger stated that this team played well against good teams and poorly against bad teams and did not play well enough times to earn a winning season. Outstanding members of the Class of '67 were Bill Yeager, second baseman, and pitcher Bob Emery.

The shape of the quarter mile track serves as the shape for the team picture of the 1966 Golden Rams Track Squad. The team members include from extreme left and counter-clockwise about the oval: J. Poole, L. Dische, T. Hollinger, M. Napolitano, D.

Curran, P. Bunting, H. Rush, F. Luff, R. Olsen, S. Propert, J. Roper, A. Schwinn, D. Wheeler, D. Borneman, A. Markert, R. Maloney, D. Holveck, A. Foreman, J. Jorgenson, L. Wear. Missing are the coaches, Dr. E. Youmans and Mr. C. Morgan.

TRACK AND FIELD

Steve Propert, Ted Ponczka and Doug Wheeler keep up with the pack during an exciting meet with Saint Joseph's track team.

The 1966 West Chester track team was very similar to those of the preceding three years, in that it had good balance and depth, but only a few outstanding performers. Track is a rather unique sport at West Chester because it has both an indoor and an outdoor season. Out of 9 indoor meets, the Rams won 7, and outdoors, they were 6 and 2. The major highlight of the season was the winning of the mile relay in record time at the State College meet with Slippery Rock. This team had defeated the Rams twice before in competition, and West Chester's performance was one that is well worth noting. Outstanding seniors were T. Markert, T. Hollinger and P. Bunting.

Ron Pearson checks for a foul as Tony Markert lets go with another one of his long javelin thrusts.

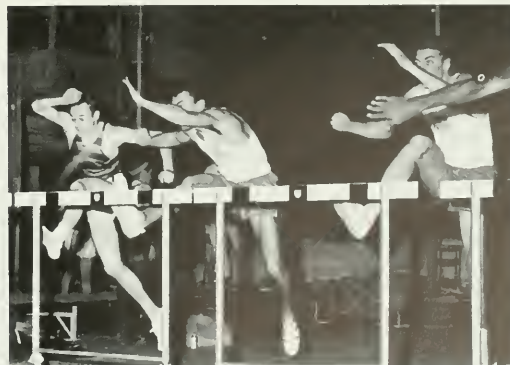

The strain on Gary Weaver's face portrays his dedication to his particular event, the high jump. This awardwinning junior is truly an outstanding team member and has displayed his skill in many a performance.

One highlight of the indoor season is the Inquirer Games. Here, Ram Frosh and varsity run a trial mile.

Arms outstretched, legs folded, Gary Weaver sails through the air as he competes for a winning jump.

In a dead heat for first, D. Holveck and A. Schwinn leap over the final hurdle at the Inquirer Games.

The 1966 Men's Tennis team display the tools of their trade. They are l. to r.: Coach B. Forer, G. Loux, B. Sechrist, A. Graffon, J. Knatz, D. Schwartz, D. Long, S. Temple.

Whoosh! Dan Schwartz returns the ball across the net from a very difficult up-court position. Dan's powerful returns were a deciding factor in many matches.

TENNIS

Each individual member of the 1966 Men's Tennis team deserves credit for a fine job, often against great odds. Members of the team were often behind in singles but would go on to win the doubles and win the match. The team's final season record was seven wins, three losses, and one tie. The team entered the NCAA Atlantic Coast Regional Tournament and the Middle Atlantic Conference Tournament and managed to do well in both. Returning lettermen are Alan Graffan, Daniel Schwartz and Donald Long, all of whom will make up the nucleus of the 1967 team, which loses three fine players but anticipates a fine season.

An important part of any tennis match is the pre-match warm-up period. Above, Don Long, a senior, determinedly practices on his up-court returns.

Dr. Edwin Cottrell instructs his team on the fine points of hand positioning and stance. L. to r.: P. Schubert, B. Booth, A. Flashner, B. Chiu and Dr. E. Cottrell (head coach).

GOLF

The portrait of a golf match—a ball, a club, a well-kept fairway and a golfer—all harmoniously combined together. Next question: identify our mystery golfer.

After a fine drive down the center of the fairway, Bill Booth prepares to chip his ball onto the green. Mike Yanko, team manager, checks the lie of the ball.

The Arnold Palmers of the 1966 West Chester Golf team had good balance between experienced players and new members. The varsity squad consisted of nine players — seniors, juniors and sophomores. A seasonal record of eight wins and six losses is not an adequate indication of the ability of the team, for several matches were decided by one stroke. Fall saw the team at Penn State for the Eastern Intercollegiate Fall Golf Tournament, where they placed sixth. Returning senior members of the team include Bill Booth, Bob Chiu, Al Flashner and Pat Schubert, each of whom is to be commended for a fine job.

Pam Steele tries to crosse check an opponent.

Her eyes on the ball, Pam runs into position.

With crosses in hands ready for action, Judith Steele approaches an opponent from the rear while Tina Sloan cuts the field diagonally as she attempts to recover.

LACROSSE

Needed: Developed skill and ability for Lacrosse! Our coeds, under Miss Gros's guidance and coaching have developed the well-coordinated skills of passing, catching and cradling the ball with a crosse as well as the excellent conditioning and teamwork required for the fine game of Lacrosse. Varsity won 6 and lost 1. J.V. won 5 and lost 2. P. Steele and G. Ash were selected as members of the All-American Reserve Lacrosse team. Well deserved honor, Ladies!

GIRLS' TENNIS

Ready position! As the ball comes flying across the net, our women tennis teams put strength, stamina, strokes and strategy into action. Miss B. Coate's coaching plus our team's excellent playing form and body control led to a varsity record of 3 wins and 1 loss and a J.V. record of 4 wins and 1 loss. B. Edwards reached quarter finals at the Tennis Championships held in Forest Hills, N.Y. Our coeds have the needed ability to represent West Chester State well.

Sonia Smith uses her mighty backswing for a successful return.

Mohn, S. Quillin, K. Mandrajieff, S. Whalen. Managers are E. Hulton and L. Harpster, who are not in picture.

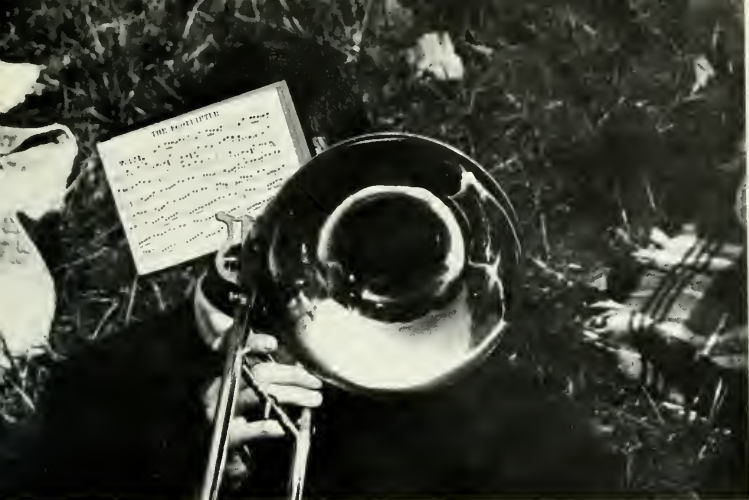

The first pep rally was a true indication of the spirit that permeates the campus. So many well wishers turned out to support the team that the stands overflowed and the loyal rooters were forced to sit on the floor. This crowd certainly cares little for seats!

SPECTATORS . . .

If there's one thing at West Chester no one can criticize, it's the school spirit. Rain, snow, or shine the fans never fail to show up. Mentally, they're right out there in the midst of the game, and the best part of it is that they don't give up when our teams are the underdogs. West Chester spectators go where the action is!

An excited crowd anxiously watches and cheers as the Rams fight to hold back a powerful Villanova offense. This high-spirited group bolstered our team throughout the entire game.

Taking time out to play a rousing fight song, this mystery trombone player concentrates intently on his musical pursuits. Meanwhile, the Ram soccer team concentrates on out-manuevering an impregnable Army team, only to encounter defeat.

Fumbled again! Those Rams had better get busy and score points, or I'm going to run out on the field and show 'em how it's done.

Tense expressions on the faces of Bill Booth, Bobbi Collins and Frank Booth reflect an equally tense situation in the West Chester-Villanova football game. Even though the Rams lost the game, they showed the fighting spirit of State.

AND MORE SPECTATORS

"Let's go Big Rams! Go, fight, win!" cheers Peggy Herr, one of West Chester's ardent rooters. Peggy's enthusiastic spirit sparks the crowd's excitement in many of West Chester's athletic tilts and helps to build top-notch athletes.

W. I. A. P.

The Women's Intercollegiate Athletic Program, under the able guidance and supervision of the faculty advisor, Mrs. Elinor Taylor, and the president, Judith Sener, affords to the women in the organization the opportunity to engage in competition and discussion with teams from other colleges. The purpose of the club is not only to provide the opportunity to improve coordination and to perfect athletic skills, but also to encourage a sense of teamwork and to instill in its members a spirit of sportsmanship in every phase of women's athletics.

W.A.A.

Under the diligent supervision of its advisor, Mrs. Louise Giunta, and that of its president, Kathy Verratti, Women's Athletic Association maintains its position as one of the most outstanding organizations for the women at W.C.S. WAA gives every co-ed, regardless of her abilities, the opportunity to engage in and enjoy many various sports and activities, from soccer and badminton, to "slimmastics" and volleyball.

West Chester provides a well-rounded intramural program for its men students. Among the many activities are football and basketball games, wrestling matches, and exciting roller hockey games. The various fields and gyms are secured in advance to allot the teams ample and undisturbed playing time. Although intramurals are designed especially for men who do not participate in varsity sports, any student is welcome to become a member. The intramural program offers many hours of competition and fun, and, judging from the number of active participants, it has proven itself to be a very big success.

MEN'S INTRAMURALS

"Bring 'em out of the huddle," yells Pam Hillard at an exciting night game.

Flames of the burning WC light up the night while cheerleaders, including new male member, Norm Kelly, yell "Go, Fight, Win."

CHEERLEADERS

"We've got the spirit!" say the West Chester cheerleaders. These enthusiastic girls have worked hard to decorate the campus with signs, sponsor dances, organize bonfires and pep rallies, and have traveled long distances to cheer our teams on to victory. Ask them how much work cheerleading involves, and they'll tell you "Plenty;" but they wouldn't give it up for anything. Seniors leave with fond memories of exciting games — games at which they have cheered long and hard to promote that "old fighting spirit" of which West Chester is proud.

"I say the Ram ain't lazy!" A vital part of WC's spirit is Dave Shuster.

The 1966 cheerleaders of West Chester. L. to r.: B. Lapano, P. Herr, C. Stokes, P. Hoffman, P. Hillard (Capt.), S. Wise, B. Jones, S. Johnson, J. Habig, K. Kummer. Now there's the true WC spirit!!

"NOW I WILL DO
NOTHING BUT LISTEN TO ACCRUE WHAT I HEAR INTO
THIS SONG, TO LET
SOUNDS CONTRIBUTE TOWARD IT."

ACTIVITIES

"THERE IS THAT IN ME—I DO NOT KNOW WHAT IT IS—
BUT I KNOW IT IS IN ME."

RAMPAGE WEEKEND

Opening the gala festivities of Rampage Weekend was the Friday night football game with Kutztown State. Under a blazing WC victory sign, the cheerleaders excitedly anticipate the game's action.

In addition to its function as a dance band, Warren Covington's group was enjoyable on a listening basis. These couples are doing just that by taking time to watch rather than participate.

Attending the dedication of the women's dorm named in her honor, Miss Ann Goshen received the acclaim due to a person who had devoted years of service at West Chester State College.

Unfortunately this glass doesn't overflow with brew; but with the company of a pretty maiden and the accompaniment of the Covington band, our friend could not have asked for more.

Even during a night of pleasant "Fantasy," dancers had to take a break. However, everyone returned to the dance floor to be both soothed by the sounds of Warren Covington's band and motivated by the rhythmic beat of the Impalas.

The half-time of the West Chester - Army soccer game gave spectators a few minutes to relax during an action-packed game that was a tribute to both the teams and the individual players.

Disregarding thoughts of student apathy and ideas of a suitcase college, and forgetting for a little while that it was the time of the mid-term examination period, students, friends, faculty, and anyone else who happened to be around let loose for one entire weekend of "Fantasy" — Rampage Weekend. The entire affair started with a fanfare that began a parade through town, then rolled into a torrent of shouts at the football game against Kutztown, a freshman game with the University of Pennsylvania, and a soccer game against Army. Before, during, and after all this shouting came the sound of music from Ehinger Gym and Hollinger Field House where Warren Covington, The Impalas, and Jay and the Americans captivated a throng of appreciative people. Flowers, games, dedications, floats, decoration, relaxation, dinners, music, anticipation and beautiful dresses—all that combined to give each his own weekend of "Fantasy" at State.

One of the highlights of halftime was the presentation to West Chester of Dr. Bonder's portrait. Left, Dr. Earl F. Sykes and Mr. Robert Reese accept the painting with appreciation.

There is one person who will never forget Rampage Weekend, and that is Sue Johnson; and the one moment she will never forget is the moment when it was announced that she had been chosen Queen of Rampage.

With a bit of concentration, and a bit of hip action these dancers prove that, no matter how formal the affair, it is the Impalas who set the place moving with the sounds for any Saturday night dance.

On Sunday night, Jay and the Americans brought Rampage to a close. The group gave an unforgettable performance which included their hit, "Only in America."

One of the major events of the weekend was the electing and crowning of the 1966 Rampage Queen, Susan Johnson. After her crowning by last year's lovely queen, Rosemary Martin, the new queen took on her duties of presiding over all parts of the whirlwind weekend, beginning with the Friday night football game with Kutztown, and ending with the last program on Sunday evening. An elementary major, Sue is an active, interesting and popular campus co-ed.

Thousands of West Chester Students flocked to the Hollinger Field House on Sunday night to hear Jay and the Americans sing their many hits. Their performance culminated another Rampage Weekend.

With a silky voice, this little lady purred "These Boots Were Made For Walking" and other melodies.

JUNIOR CLASS SHOW

The show is almost over. Doubts and fear linger in Director Eileen Widhson's mind. Jim Levendis isn't sure either. Were the hours of study enough? Did the chorus keep in step? Were the jokes honestly funny? Was the orchestra in tune with the singers? Could the actors be heard back to the last row? Were the sets painted carefully? Was "Once Upon A Mattress" a success? "A genuine princess (snore) is exceedingly rare." The curtain falls and the class of '67 has its answer: applause, curtain calls, full house. Congratulations!

Curtain call! There was applause enough for all, and well there might be. In the scene above, leading cast members graciously share the audience's accolade with their musical counterparts, ably led by J. Levendis. Combine a fine cast with a great orchestra, add a great deal of hard work; the result — a great show!

Long years at the hands of his "beloved" Aggravain etched deep lines into the King's face. As a result, Sextimus, played by P. Moliken, always plotted behind the backs of N. Diefenbaker, Minstrel and J. Stralkowski, Jester. How could he get his hands on a few of the fair young maidens who roamed about the Kingdom?

Ninety minutes before each performance, D. Mullin, as the Wizard, began an aging process, adding sixty years to his life.

No! No! Try it again. Take it from the top, Act I, Scene III. Under the able direction of E. Widhson, "Once Upon a Mattress" proved to be one of the entertainment highlights of the class of 1967.

J. Levendis, as musical conductor of "Once Upon a Mattress," stands poised to give the downbeat for the rollicking entrance of Fred at rehearsal.

In October we were fortunate enough to hear an impressive performance of music by Tsyehovski, Barber, Wagner and Mozart as presented by the versatile National Symphony Orchestra of Washington, D.C., under the direction of Howard Mitchell.

Accomplished and exciting Spanish dancing was brought to our campus by Jose Greco and his company of skilled performers, who have become world renowned for their rigorous standards of control.

The first concert in this year's All Star Series was a brilliant performance by Evelyn Lear. In her first appearance on the east coast, this lovely and petite coloratura-soprano gave to her audience a superb performance made up of songs in the Contemporary and Folk, as well as in the Classical and Romantic styles.

The thirty-second season of the All Star Series at West Chester State College was a much appreciated part of the academic year. Beginning with soprano Evelyn Lear and ending with Jose Greco, the series brought to the college not only high level entertainment, but also several aspects of our culture which served as valuable complements to the theoretical material learned in the classroom.

The Goldovsky Grand Opera Company presented an excellent English language version of Verdi's immortal masterpiece, "Rigoletto." It is the second year we have enjoyed a production by the company.

LECTURE AND ASSEMBLY PROGRAM

Formal educational talks at West Chester are found not only in the classroom but also in the lecture and assembly programs given several times a year in Philips Memorial. These programs range from a display of mime to talks on American independence.

One of the world's best pantomimists, Frans Reynders, showed the students of West Chester that carefully controlled physical movement can tell a story as perfectly as a voice can.

On October 11, Edward Weeks, editor of the Atlantic Monthly, spoke of the major influences and effects concerned with the sense of independence found in "the American way of life" from the American Revolutionary times till now.

Ann Wilson, choreographer and dancer, brought to the stage of Philips Auditorium a most colorful and educational study dealing with the history of ballet from the gigue of Louis XIV to the modern interpretative movements of Martha Graham.

LA PERICHOLE

Don Andres de Ribieras, Viceroy of Lima and popularly known as Coris Shepard, prepares to go on stage as the gruff yet kindly ruler who separates, then unites the lovers.

A grateful cup of cheer for the Viceroy, but more befittingly for the Music Department students and faculty providing State with a large portion of entertainment and culture.

The Music Department's annual opera presentation featured La Perichole. Under the direction of Mr. Roy Sweet, Perichole and her lovers sang age-old lamentations of unrequited love. F. Illie, as Perichole, was a colorful, vibrant Spanish peasant girl. With the daring of a sénora intent on being a sénora, Perichole caught the heart of her lover as played by David Corson, as well as the heart of a viceroy played by Coris Shepard.

Francine Illie, who played the title role of La Perichole, deserved all the applause she received for a vocal and verbal portrayal of the lovably capricious street singer of Lima.

SENIOR RECITALS

Senior music majors display their talents and virtuosity before their peers and professors as evidence of their artistry and technical ability. To all music majors the culmination of four years of concentrated effort, during which a great part of the music major's time is devoted to studying and practicing his particular field of application, is the Senior Recital. The Music Department has not only presented its students with the challenge of obtaining stage presence through performance, but is doing the college a great service by providing the opportunity for all students to attend and appreciate these concerts.

The mood of a slow sea ballad is portrayed by the rich voice of baritone Joseph Erdeljac. His versatility was shown by an easy transition from the dramatic to the risqué in seconds.

Coris Shepard, accomplished clarinetist, was accompanied by Carol Krebs Sipes in a duet. Then Coris premiered "Suite for Unaccompanied Clarinet" by Reed Hoyt, which was received enthusiastically by the audience. "Bravo," Coris and Carol!!

Miss Williams compliments Barbara Bodnar and Joseph Erdeljac on their outstanding performances, as Joe Lewis, accompanist of both voice majors, registers relief that it's really over.

THEATRE 208

One important group which helps to combine entertainment and education in any college is the Little Theater group. West Chester has its Theater 208, a small group of able students which uses a small, flexible stage for the production of plays ranging from the classical Greek theater to the modern experimental theater. Under the supervision of Mr. William Cope and Miss Sandra Manberg, this versatile group of actors and actresses work in all aspects of the theater in order to provide the college with a series of plays which testifies to the creative ability of the actors and presents material worthy of the intellectual atmosphere of a college.

Barbara Barretta, assisted by Frank Alimio, spends long hours memorizing her lines and in developing the character she is to play in a fine production of Thieves' Carnival.

William Cope, veteran actor and the director of many Theater 208 plays, supervises both the acting and staging techniques which go into the production of every play.

All members of Theater 208, whether they are acting, working on the lighting or sets crew, helping with make-up or with costumes, or passing our programs, are interested in putting on drama that is both entertaining and provocative. Whereas most members acquire a general range of knowledge concerning the various facets of dramatic presentation, those people who are especially interested in the theater work and in pursuing a theatrical career undertake specially supervised work in all areas of play production and are then initiated into the national honorary fraternity of theater, Alpha Psi Omega.

Barbara Hughes, a long-time member of Theater 208, instructs one of the members of her lighting crew on the subtleties of technique required for every play.

Before any actor or actress can do a good job in a play, there must be time spent thinking about both the play's theme and the nature of the characters.

Before the presentation of the play Bill of Divorcement, Dick Mullen and Rosemary Alitto spend long hours of preparation in order to reach the degree of artistry typical of Theater 208.

CHRISTMAS WEEK

The week before the onslaught of Christmas vacation is one filled with a variety of activities. Usually the first snow falls during this period, lifting student spirit in anticipation of a "white" holiday. Various groups get together to go caroling while parties are given for children in the community. Christmas feeling runs high throughout the campus as evidenced through elaborate decorations in the dorms, quad, and elsewhere. As always, the Carol Service lends an overall pensive note to the end of a bustling week of snowball battles, dormitory parties, and all other hectic holiday activities.

Gathering around a fire, even if it is an artificial one, has a curiously warming effect on these four girls who in the true spirit of the Christmas season have just returned from singing carols to the nearby West Chester residents.

As a service to the community, but moreover for their own enjoyment, the Majors' Club sponsors a Christmas party for retarded youngsters. Pictured here are club members and their young charges, celebrating Christmas in holiday style.

Dormitory decorations add a festive look to the campus. Here, colorful door paintings enhance Goshen Hall, imbuing each person going through with a glowing feeling of Christmas warmth.

The traditional Thursday night carol service, with its candlelight simplicity, is an event which firmly establishes the mood of fellowship and goodwill for the up-coming holiday season.

Every child faces Christmas and Santa Claus with mixed feelings of fear and anticipation. This little girl's smile reflects her clear conscience in regard to her previous year's exploits.

Children's parties are sponsored by various service groups on campus during Christmas week. At right the Friars are shown entertaining a group of happy youngsters in Lawrence Hall.

As can be ascertained from the picture below, festivities are not limited only to Christmas holidays. Here some girls from the Brandywine Apartments prepare a Chanukah celebration.

Hmmm! Smells as if Christmas is definitely in the air says Genya Kondrya as she takes a big whiff of a beautifully decorated, fragrant tree standing in the lobby of Goshen Hall.

Following a superb White Supper and a beautiful Christmas Carol service, this obviously happy couple enjoy themselves at the Christmas dance, another traditional function at State.

The annual Christmas Concert given by West Chester students is a part of the traditional Christmas spirit that pervades the campus and makes this season of the year a cherished one in the hearts of the students. These students are all members of the Men's Chorus and the Women's Chorus which is comprised entirely of students enrolled in the music curriculum. Under the direction of Miss Jane Sheppard, the Men's Chorus and the Women's Chorus provides the students and their parents with an excellent performance of the traditional Christmas music. This concert is one of the highlights of Christmas.

Annually, senior music majors compete for the honor of singing a solo at the Carol service. Here, Barbara Bodnar sings at the White Supper.

Senior soloist, Robert Segall, takes a few minutes to relax before his star performance at the Christmas Carol Service by applauding fellow students at the traditional White Supper.

It's the jolly old St. Nicholas and his bag of goodies! These children are watching the old gentleman intently as they envision the presents awaiting them for being good children.

At the annual Christmas party for the physically handicapped sponsored by the Phys. Ed. Department, senior Wesley Alles encourages his young friend to have fun with a bean bag.

Students pass through this archway many times during the year, but passing through into a snow-covered campus is part of the West Chester Christmas spirit.

Hey everybody, "Jingle Bells" is the word, and you can sing it or shout it! As far as the senior women and their friends are concerned, Yule Spirit at W. C. State is never lacking.

If Motown Records ever hears us, the Supremes have had it! These West Chester co-eds are taking part in a song fest for the benefit of their enthusiastic audience of fellow students.

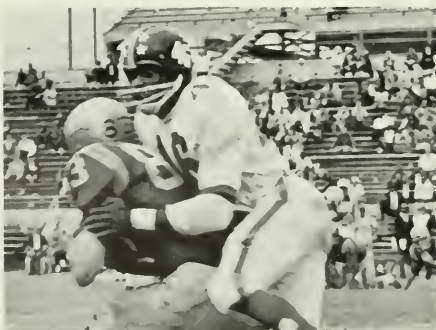

TANGERINE BOWL

The Tangerine Bowl Came, which is sponsored annually by the Orlando Elks Club, is held for the benefit of crippled children. Ram Dave Shuster talks with a few of these children during the gay festivities.

Dejection written all over her face, Sue Wise watches from the sidelines as the team fails in a brave effort to make a touchdown against tough Morgan State.

Ed Hayes, a Morgan State halfback, brings End Mike Haines to a halt. Finding that their ground game was not gaining enough yardage for them, the Rams took to the air, riddling Morgan State's defensive team.

It took a real team effort to halt the progress of this Morgan State runner. Way in the background can be seen a group of spirited, cheering Orlando fans.

Because of the Rams' outstanding season, they were selected to play against Morgan State in the Tangerine Bowl in Orlando, Florida. This was not only a great honor for the team members and coaches, but it also brought to W. C. prestige in the world of sports. The game was played on December 10, and it was televised throughout most of the Eastern coast. The excitement of the flight to Florida, the motorcades, and the general game festivities are events which will long be remembered by the team. Though defeated by a much stronger Morgan State team, our Rams displayed the fight and stamina that is typical of the West Chester State College tradition.

That referee must check this pile-up carefully to determine just what's what. We leave it up to you to determine just who has got the ball. One thing is sure: he won't get any farther.

An enthusiastic crowd that has followed the Rams to Florida cheers loudly as the team makes a first down. Such avid fans added much to the already high spirit of the football game.

Taking time out to swim, sunbathe, and enjoy themselves in the hot Florida sunshine, the football team and cheerleaders excitedly anticipate the Morgan State game that is to follow.

Junior Ed Swetkowski brings Morgan State ball carrier to a stop as Denny Shank, also a junior, moves in to seal the tackle. The defensive unit was exceedingly tough in the game.

DANCES

Line dancing to the Impalas, fast dancing to the Statesmen, frugging to the Vibrations, slow dancing to all of them. At Hollinger Field House, at the Dining Hall, in the Old Gym, there are dances. Before the semester begins, on weekends, on holidays, before and after vacations, during the finals, on Rampage Weekend. Formals, semi-formals, informals. Sometimes with a date, sometimes without a date. Dim lights, bright lights, revolving lights Dances at West Chester. Part of college life. Part of each individual. Stan Kenton, Jay and the Americans. One of the things that is always remembered. Dances at West Chester State. There is always an element of relaxation, even when it's mixed with excitement and expectation. Whenever someone thinks of all the good times that he had at State, he will most likely remember the good times that he had at the many dances.

JUNIOR PROM

A junior is many things to a college — he is, of course, a student; he is a leader among his fellow students; he is a planner of activities for State, and eventually he is a college graduate who wants to remember his college days as days of happiness spent in establishing lasting friendships. There are many things he will remember as he looks back on his junior year, but the Junior Prom will hold a special place in his memory as he recalls the theme of the evening, and the good time spent with friends.

Memories, introductions, and courtesies — all of these things make one evening a really memorable one for these enthusiastic members of the Junior class who enjoyed the atmosphere of the Downington Motor Inn while dancing to the music of Bill O'Brien and his swinging orchestra.

And roses too! sums up Linda Gedney's expression as she receives a big bouquet of roses from Bob Powers while her escort, Ron Smeltzer, appears to be enjoying the Queen's surprise. After the presentation of the roses, the Queen and her escort led off a dance.

Last spring, the Men's and Women's Student Governments afforded parents of West Chester students the opportunity of visiting the campus and touring the buildings. Following an open house, during which all buildings were open for "inspection," the parents were treated to a buffet luncheon. To wind up a perfect afternoon, a gym show was presented. Above, parents tour Schmucker Hall.

PARENTS' DAY

Below, an eager father waits in line for some punch and cookies at a reception in New Men's Dorm. Many dorms held such receptions that day; all helped to make Parents' Day a success.

All ages were represented at Parents' Day; the streets were crowded with relatives and friends who were visiting the dormitories, touring the new buildings, or inspecting the campus.

BUNNY HOP

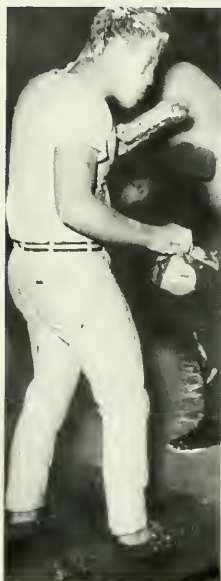

Above are members of APO fraternity getting ready to begin a rollicking bunny hop around Hollinger Gym. Their beauty and grace added much appeal to the dance and helped to promote the Easter spirit.

On a warm night last spring, West Chester students flocked to Hollinger Field House to dance to the music of the Impalas and participate in the "Easter Bunny Hop," a dance that is rapidly becoming a tradition here at West Chester. Sponsored by Women's Government, the dance featured door prizes, a guess-how-many-jellybeans-are-in-the-jar contest, refreshments, and an eleven-foot Easter basket made with colored tissues. Topping off the evening was a bunny hop done by some very spirited and enthusiastic APO "bunnies."

With the music of the Impalas in the background, this happy group is doing what is called a "line dance." Such enthusiasts made the dance a success.

"DO I CONTRADICT MYSELF?—VERY WELL THEN I CONTRADICT MYSELF
(I AM LARGE, I CON-TAIN MULTITUDES!)"

Attention students! In case of mistaken identity, this semblance of a human being is otherwise known as a West Chester Prosh.

Let's see, three notebooks, a dink, a dimpled smile, long blond hair and blue eyes. Yes, this freshman will succeed at State.

FRESHMEN

They come from many different places; they are many different people and they will experience many different things in their stay, but there is a quality that fuses them together and makes their presence an important part of the campus life. This quality is their undefeatable vitality. They are the spark which keeps the spirit of West Chester alive and insures its continuance, for they avidly participate in all campus activities and are a credit to W. C. State College.

Walk the wooden road to Recitation Hall and a Bookstore line awaits you. Freshmen must become accustomed to this and other things, including a changing campus.

Here sit the most Beloved Babies of West Chester State. The freshmen, clad in their original baby outfits, are the biggest attraction at the Big-Little Sister Picnic.

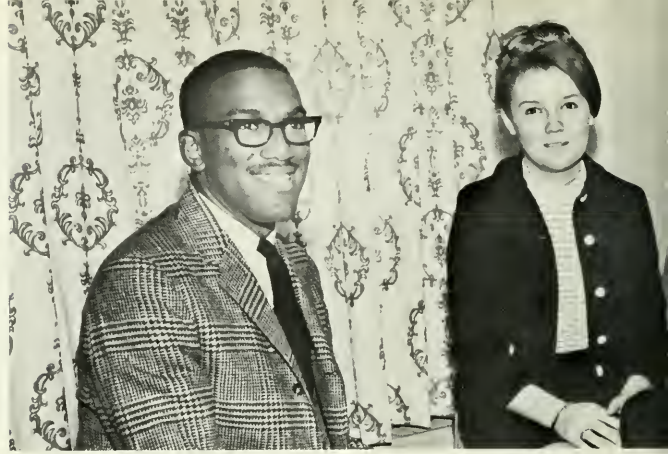

Attention riveted to the Gym meet in progress, Sophomore Fred Koske and his mysterious companion (a possible Dem School soph.?) help tip the scales to our side.

The Sophomore Semi-formal sponsored annually by the Sophomore class is one of the social highlights of the year for these enthusiastic members of the class of "1969."

Famous for their dancing feet and "groovy" dance techniques, the members of the Sophomore class really move out at a W. C. State mixer - would you believe dance?

Hey You Baby! Do the Philly Dog! And if in doubt about the dance, watch this sophomore!

Edgie Wallace, President; Pat Synovac, Secretary; Wayne Clapp, Vice-president and Genya Kondyra, Treasurer are the capable officers of the class of 1969.

"WE ALSO ASCEND DAZZLING AND TREMENDOUS AS THE SUN,
WE FOUND OUR OWN O MY SOUL
IN THE CALM AND COOL OF THE DAYBREAK."

SOPHOMORES

With fond memories of their bewildered freshman year behind them now, the sophomores approach the year armed with a newly found security and self-confidence. They have opened all the doors, and they have discovered the key to class unity. By sponsoring dances and by providing for entertainment such as "The Cyrle," they have proved themselves to be capable representatives of the student body of West Chester State.

Exchanging a few words while dancing, this couple is enjoying the music and the atmosphere which made the Sophomore Semi-formal a night to remember.

One of the traditional duties of the Junior class is to sponsor dances and other social functions during the year for the benefit of students such as these.

"I HAVE HEARD WHAT THE TALKERS WERE TALKING,
THE TALK OF THE BEGINNING
AND THE END, BUT I DO NOT TALK OF THE BEGINNING OR THE END."

Having passed the critical halfway mark in his career, each member of the Junior class might be considered a combination of the memories of the past and expectations of the future.

Almost every night around midnight a flock of couples begins to gather around any of the women's dorms for one of the more pleasant student activities which go on at every college.

College life does not consist solely of studying, as this couple can testify as they go to one of the informal dances, held at the Hollinger Field House.

By the time someone gets to be a Junior, he or she knows how to use time so that there is chance for relaxation — ask these girls who take out some time from studying to play tennis.

Creativity and self-expression are part of each individual, regardless of class.

Keeping up with the pace set by her class, this ambitious Junior assisted in the opening of West Chester's very own coffee house located uptown.

JUNIORS

The Junior year is perhaps the most important for every college student. It is a year in which freshman and sophomore experiences combine to establish an outlook that will be taken during the rest of each individual's education. It is a year that is filled with activities such as the Cap Crew, the Junior Ring Dance, and, for a few, a year spent in college in Europe. A very important year!

A major highlight of the Junior year is the Junior Ring Dance, a semi-formal affair with which the class celebrates receiving the college ring which serves to remind them of experiences and education they have gotten at West Chester.

The various vocal organizations of the Music Department give students an opportunity to display individual and collective creativity.

An example of an active Junior is Cecelia Powers. This intelligent, pretty girl takes time out from her busy social and academic life to be one of the I.C.A. representatives. Her avid interest in school affairs enhances the Junior class.

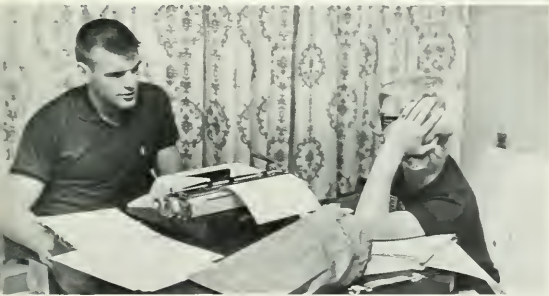

The Junior Ring Dance is held in honor of the class ring, a symbol of academic achievement as well as social status. Jim Berrian proudly displays his symbol during the annual dance.

The smile on the young lady's face is, no doubt, one of satisfaction after sampling one of ARA Slater's well-balanced meals in the pleasant atmosphere of the college dining hall.

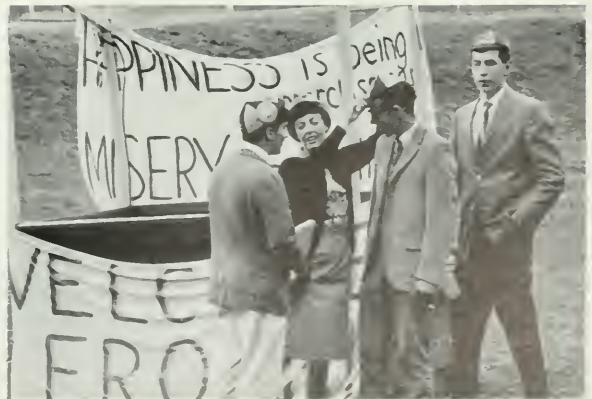

This couple would willingly testify that outdoor pep rallies at the beginning of the fall semester are places to meet people and make friends.

Co-ed study breaks are favorites with the students of any class. They provide one means of combining the academic and the social aspects that help to make up college life.

It is the Junior class which is in charge of orientating freshmen to college life. With dances, bonfires, devious escapades, dinks, and sing-alongs, the Cap Crew tries to make the frosh better acquainted with their classmates.

"IT IS TIME TO EXPLAIN MYSELF—
LET US STAND UP."

SENIORS

These seniors are elementary majors who are presenting a skit in their Teaching of Social Studies class.

The day before Christmas vacation, crowds of seniors could be seen in the basement of Recitation Hall as they eagerly awaited their senior portrait orders.

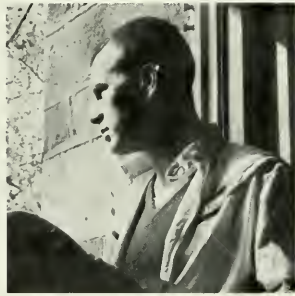

Sponsored by the senior class, the Serendipity Singers proved to be a big success. Here, in the second part of the show, they sing for a pleased audience.

Cheryl Bickel, a senior, laughs as someone makes a joke about her potential to crop yearbook pictures.

Jim Allison and Emily Glatthorn are dancing during a senior party.

Senior year is also a time for some serious thinking about the future.

Three well-known seniors pose for a picture during a fun-filled senior party held at the American Legion.

Left, junior candidates for senior class officers do not seem to be taking Bob Chiu's prompting very seriously. All are taking part in a panel discussion.

Above are our four senior class officers who have given their time selflessly in order to sponsor various senior class events and activities. From left to right, they are Pete Mariner, vice-president; Meg Patch, treasurer; Bobbi Collins, secretary; and Bill Booth, president. The class owes them much thanks for a well-planned, fun-filled senior year.

And senior year came at last. It began with a host of senior parties, the new experience of student teaching, and the pride which always characterizes a senior. It went on to include the presentation of the Serendipity Singers, a winter weekend in the Poconos, and the anticipation of still more exciting times to come in the spring — proms, parties, and finally, graduation. Senior year was also characterized by a closer relationship among class members, as if all of the experiences of four years served to establish a bond between classmates. Seniors also had the experience of reviewing and appreciating the variety of impressions college life offers.

SENIOR CLASS

WHO'S WHO

Bill Booth, Mary Lou Webb, Bill Yeager, and Brenda Warmkessel are to be congratulated for outstanding service.

Top-flight seniors Jay Staats, Bobbie Collins, Drue Donofrio, Bob Emery, and Kathy McCann are campus hard workers.

Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges is an organization which was conceived about thirty years ago, having been first published for the school year 1934-35. It was founded on the premise that one national basis of recognition for college students, involving no dues or cost of any kind, was necessary. Approximately 800 schools nominate students for recognition by this organization; nominating committees from each campus are instructed to consider every student in view of his scholarship, participation and leadership in academic and extracurricular activities, service to his school, and future usefulness. Each member is awarded a certificate of recognition which may be given to him at graduation or earlier in the year.

Who's Who is a nationally recognized service which honors juniors, seniors, and graduate students who have been of unusual import to their schools: Pete Mariner, Betty Fortunato, and Terrie Rodden qualify.

Meg Patch, Jim Haynie, Kathie Bunt, and Newton Kulp have contributed superb services to their classes, thus the school in large.

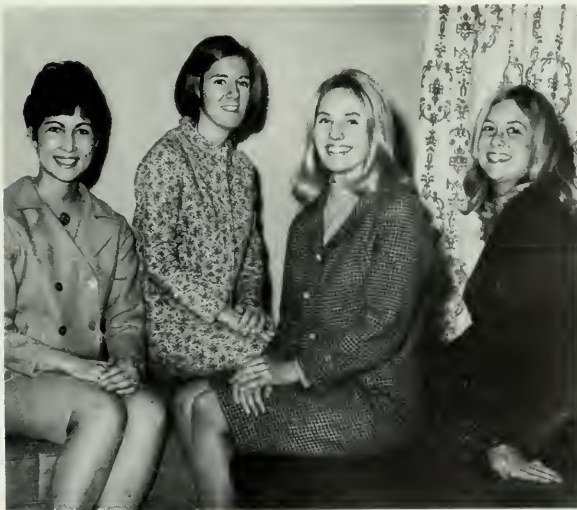

Among their outstanding achievements these students, Alma Cross, Linda Dague, Bob Powers, Bob Young, and Mike Plevyak all have devoted energy to I.G.A.

No task is too small for these four caches of verve and versatility: Lew Neumann, Stu Schwartz, Herb Seifert, and Bob Gordon.

Pam Eberly, Bonnie Rudy, Sue Johnson, and Joanne Clarke are particularly well known through their participation in Women's Government.

As innovators Stanli Choc, Tommye Mallory, Linda Caswell, Steve Cushman, and Ginny Gaffney rate.
